Live in Bahrain

Once again, the Chuckle Club is bringing a triumvirate of titillation to Bahrain, with three great comedy acts performing this April...

The Chuckle Club is really making a name for itself here. The next event will take place on April 10 (Brit Club) and 11 (InterContinental Regency) and will guarantee you a fair few giggles.

First up on the line-up is Junior Simpson. A regular headliner all over the UK, this comic is known for his boundless joy and exuberance and finds his humour in the everyday and humdrum with anecdotes of his world travels. He also steers clear of crass and crude material, making him a favourite for warm up, TV and corporate work. He has performed in countless festivals including the Edinburgh Fringe, Brighton Festival and Vodacom Funny Festival in Capetown, whilst also having a few radio spots.

Paul Sinha started his career as a doctor after qualifying in the 1990's. Although pursuing both careers, comedy won hands down after he earned a nomination at the 2006 Edinburgh Festival in 2006 for the highest accolade in live comedy, the if.comedy award. Some have described him as "superlative... irresistible" and others have said, "This is what good stand-up should be. Hilariously funny, passionate and articulate."

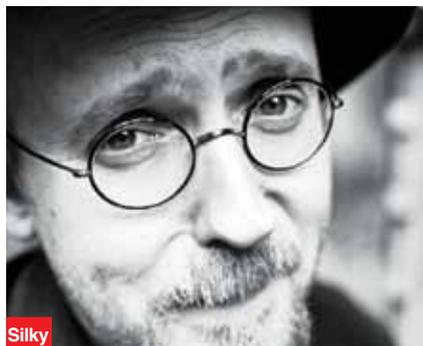

Last, but not least, is Silky. With his first gig back in 1994, this Liverpoolian has spent his time since perfecting his jokes and deliveries. Tall, versatile and funny, this comedian is the guy to turn to if you need an MC, an extended set or simply a laugh or two. His worldwide portfolio includes China, Kuwait, Singapore, the States, Europe and now Bahrain. ■

Last month saw the beginning of open mic night at Déjà Vu, which turned out to be a great success where many residents of Bahrain turned up to tell their jokes. April 17 is the date to note down in your diaries, giving you plenty of time to work on your set. Starting at 7.30pm, the night is free for everyone and participants get five to seven minutes each on stage. The MC for the night is comedian and Radio Bahrain host Imran Al Aradi. Even if you classify yourself as the funny one of the group, or perhaps want to try your hand at something new, this is the ultimate chance to do it. You never know... you could end up being Bahrain's next big thing!
