

A Quick Chuckle with Imran

FACT sits down with Imran Al Aradi to talk about his show, worst pick up lines, and his most embarrassing story to date.

So, who is Imran Al Aradi?

A full-time entertainer, comedian, radio presenter and DJ. Some doctors claim that to be split-personality disorder but what do they know!

What do people best know you for on the island?

As one of the voices of Radio Bahrain.

Greatest achievement?

Being able to sustain a living as an entertainer, especially in a country where 'real jobs' just aren't born from hobbies... unless you're into cupcakes.

Favourite song?

'Everything' by Lifehouse (we secretly think it's a Glee song but he wouldn't admit it).

How is life as a DJ?

It's a tough life. Getting to listen to my favourite songs all day while interacting with a fabulous audience? Honestly, I don't know how I get through it.

Tell us more about your show.

I co-host the Drive-Time show with DJ Mojay every Sunday, Tuesday & Thursday where we discuss various topics of interest and interact with our listeners through social media. I also host the Monday & Wednesday evening shows where I play anything and everything that I believe sounds good.

Future plans in Bahrain?

I'll be starting my own podcast for those who enjoy listening to music online at their own convenience.

Most embarrassing moment?

At the mall a child accidentally ran into me, I kindly placed my hand on his head to ask if he was okay only to realise it was a very short, bearded man!

Worst pick up line?

"Haven't I seen you somewhere?" We're in Bahrain man, of course you've probably seen her somewhere!

How would you like to be remembered?

For my fabulous six pack!
